Services provided by WAR:

Legal Aid program:

WAR is the only not-for-profit organization in Karachi that provides specialized free legal aid and legal counseling services to survivors of sexual abuse and domestic violence. We investigate 100 cases of rape in Karachi in each year and encourage the victim to press charges against the perpetrator. The ultimate decision is, however, left to the survivor to make. WAR prosecutes an average on 20 cases form with Karachi in a year.

Counseling program:

WAR provides crisis intervention and counseling to survivors of sexual abuse and domestic violence. WAR has developed a counseling system, which is implemented through the First Contact Committee, whereby an effective out-reach support service has been made possible by home visits. Strong coordination between the Counseling and Legal Committees ensures that a psychologist is available for crisis intervention in all initial visits. Besides this, WAR also provides long-term counseling and support, which is offered by WAR's psychotherapist. When required, emergency medical intervention is also provided to survivors.

Awareness-raising program:

WAR's awareness-raising activities broadly focus on the psychological and social ramifications of violence against women with specific emphasis on rape and domestic violence. WAR publishes awareness-raising literature all year round and semi-annual newsletters as part of its effort to raise awareness. It networks with the police (including the women police), Medico-Legal Officers (MLOs), NGOs, NPOs and CBOs, by offering training and sensitization workshops for these groups. Chapters of "Young Friends of WAR" have been established at various schools and colleges and committed groups of teenagers help in various programs and activities of WAR. An annual thematic play highlights issues of women rights and is presented both for awareness and raising funds

What is rape under Pakistani law?

According to section 375 of the Pakistan Penal Code, Rape takes place when a man has sexual intercourse with a woman under circumstances falling under any of the five following descriptions:

- 1- against her will
- 2- without her consent
- 3- with her consent, when the consent has been obtained by putting her in fear of death or of hurt,
- 4- with her consent, when the man knows that he is not married to her and that consent is given because she believes that the man is another person to whom she is or believes herself to be married; or
- 5- with or without her consent when she is under sixteen years of age.

Additionally, the law also states that penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary to the offence of rape.

Any man who is convicted of committing rape can be sentenced to death or a jail term between ten to twenty-five years with a fine.

Any man who is convicted for gang rape can be sentenced to death or a jail term of not less than twenty-five years.

Remember that the Hudood Ordinances no longer apply to cases of rape and gang rape.

What are my rights if I am raped?

You have every right to press charges against a man or group of men who rape or attempt to rape you. Below is the procedure you can adopt to press charges against the culprits, but before you do that, you should do the following in the order mentioned:

- 1- If it has been less than 24 hours since the incident, without bathing or washing your clothes, go straight to the any of these Government hospitals and ask for a female Medico-legal Officer to examine you:
 - a) Civil Hospital Karachi, Casualty, M.A. Jinnah Road, Karachi.
 - b) Jinnah Post Graduate Medical Centre, Rafiqi Shaheed Road, Karachi.
 - c) Abbasi Shaheed Hospital, Nazimabad No. 3, Near A.O. Clinic, Karachi.
- 2- If more than 24 hours have lapsed since the incident, than go to the Police Surgeon's office, Directorate of Medico-legal Sector, Government of Sindh on main M.A. Jinnah Road (opposite Jama Cloth Market, Karachi) and ask for a woman Medico-legal Officer to examine you. Whether it has been less or more than 24 hours, it is essential that you take the clothes you were wearing at the incident with you as they may be carrying evidence against the culprit This evidence will would help you prove your case in court. Remember to take someone you trust with you or someone who knows the procedure involved.
- 3- You will be given a reference slip for your examination by the woman MLO. If this is not provided to you, it is your right to ask for it. You will be given your report in a few days time, not exceeding two weeks.

If you do not find a woman MLO in the office, it is your right to request for one. Women MLOs are required to examine all walk-in cases of rape free of charge and promptly. You will be well within your rights to complain of there is no one present to attend to you.

- 4- Once you have had your medical examination done, go to the local police station in the area of your residence and register your complaint. You can either:
 - submit written detail of the incident, which the police should acknowledge by putting their stamp on it. All incidents are required to be registered by the police. Make sure you are given an entry number and also a copy of your statement.

OR

- you can ask the police officer to write down the event for you. To make sure that the written statement is accurate, please have the police officer read out what has been written. It is always good to have someone who can read the language to go along with you. Take a copy of the written statement and keep it safely.
- 5- If the local police station refuses to register your case, then contact the Central Police Station (CPO) or the Women Police Station in Karachi (addresses are provided on the last page).
 - 6- If the Police Head Office or the Women Police Stations also refuse to cooperate, then report the facts on the case by mail service to the local administration (Governor, Chief Minister, I.G Police, Chief Justice, etc) and any human rights organization that is willing to help (some addresses are provided on the last page). Besides putting pressure on the police, this also assures that your case is put on the record of the local administration and may lead to speedier action if people are refusing to cooperate.

How to lodge the First Information Report (F.I.R.)

- State your name, father's name, residential address and the date and time of the incident first.
- Narrate all the facts and details of the incident in full and honestly.
- Register the eye witness's name, if any, and his/her father's name.
- If you are not an adult yet, request a close relative or someone you trust to fill out this information.
- Provide all this information to the Town Police Officer (T.P.O) at the local Police station in your area of residence.
- Make sure that if you have not gotten your medico-legal examination done till this point, you go for it as soon as possible, escorted by any Police Officer from your Town Police Station.
- If you know the perpetrator's name or his father's name, tell the concerned authorities. Otherwise, describe appearance(s), age, height, etc.
- Give details of any injuries suffered and tell whether the person(s) carried any weapons.
- Put your signature or thumb impression at the end of the report.
- If you have any cloth(es) or sheet(s) incriminating the abuser, hand it over to the police.
- It is your right to acquire a readable copy of the F.I.R. Make sure to keep a few readable copies with you and store the original in a safe and secure place.

For free help in registering F.I.Rs at your local Police Station, please contact us.

What will the MLO do?

The WMLO will conduct a medico-legal examination which would include:

- 1- Checking and recording any marks of violence on your body. If during the course of rape, the rapist left any scars, cuts, wounds, bruises or burns on your body or you suspect that there are fractures, be sure to point them out to the doctor. It is crucial that all evidence that points toward rape be secured and documented by the doctor.
- 2- Checking and recording any semen deposits on your body or clothes. Part of body or clothes where semen is found is usually sent to the Office of the Chemical Examiner for chemical testing.
- 3- Checking you for pregnancy if you are of a reproductive age. Girls who have attained puberty have to be tested for pregnancy to make sure that they have not conceived as a result of rape. Often pregnancy tests are not conducted by women MLOs until considerable time has lapsed since the rape. You may have to go back after a few weeks (minimum two weeks) before pregnancy can be detected.
- 4- Checking and recording signs of sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) and sexually transmitted infections (STIs). Venereal diseases often result from rape, putting your physical health at stake. Severe virginal infections can cause excessive bleeding, often leading to death in minor girls. Make sure that the doctor present checks you for any signs of virginal infection.

If the doctor sends your clothes and other evidence for forensic test to the Chemical Examiner's office, she may not give you your medical certificate for a few weeks until the results of forensic test have been made available. You will be, in that case, given one comprehensive report in a few days or possibly weeks.

After the examinations and all tests conducted, the WMLO will issue a medical certificate. Be sure to store this in a safe place and make a few readable copies.

Remember that all that is recorded in the medico-legal report and the FIR is absolutely crucial to your case. Should anything go unreported, your case can weaken in court, making prosecution difficult.
